Students Return To Help Freshmen

Prior to the beginning of the fall semester, requests were sent out contacting more than thirty upper classmen, asking for assistance during the Freshman Orientation period. The results were gratifying with twenty-four of the original group reporting on campus the day before freshman orientation.

During the following four days the students helped in a variety of ways. One group directed campus tours, another served as proctors during the freshman examinations and yet another acted as "ice breakers" at several social functions. This group also presented the last assembly of the orientation program. This assembly consisted of a panel of the upperclassmen, the purpose was to give the freshman help in the form of "Upper Classman Insight." Helpful hints and information were given out to the freshmen from the students' point of view.

Arthur Buckingham as head of the student body assisted in organizing and directing the efforts of the group.

Debate Team Schedules Debates on Economic Aid

The debate team, under the direction of Mrs. Ruby Wispe, has two debating tournaments tentatively planned, one at Wayne, Nebraska, and another at Kirksville. To be discussed is the topic, "The United States Should Discontinue Direct Economic Aid to Foreign Countries."

However, debate is not the only activity planned by this group; oratory, after dinner speaking, poetry reading, and panel discussions are on the schedule. Anyone interested in this activity may contact Mrs. Wispe of the speech department.

Dr. Uel Lamkin Dies Following Long Illness

President Emeritus of State College Came to Maryville in Fall of 1921

Dr. Uel W. Lamkin, 79, president emeritus of Northwest Missouri State College, died early Sunday morning, September 16, at his home after a long illness. He was head of the College from 1921 until 1945, when he requested retirement.

Dr. Lamkin suffered a stroke in April, 1949, and had been a semi-invalid since. He suffered another stroke July 27, 1956, and had returned from the hospital to his home, September 8.

Angman and Benz

To Reactivate Club

Reactivation of the International Relations Club will be tonight at 8 p.m. in the Lake View Room of the Union. Dr. Berndt Angman will act as sponsor of the club with Mr. George A. Benz, his assistant. The club will meet the last Wednesday of every month.

All students interested, regardless of major, are invited, especially all foreign students. In previous years the club has existed, but for the past few years it has been dormant. It is hoped that materials and study guides from the district headquarters of the International Relations Club at Washburn Municipal University of Topeka may be obtained.

Overton Is Elected Homecoming Chairman

Plans for the annual homecoming festivities to be held October 26 and 27 are advancing under the direction of Jerry Overton, student chairman; Sue Wright, assistant chairman; and Dr. John L. Harr, faculty chairman.

Representatives of the numerous social organizations are urged to be present in room 326 today at 4:00 so plans may be clearly formulated and the wheels of the 1956 Homecoming set in motion.

Forensic Squad to Meet

The Forensic Squad will hold its first organizational meeting on Thursday, September 27, at 7 p.m. in room 103. Anyone interested in contest work in debate, poetry reading, after-dinner speaking, or group discussion should attend. The first program for the year will be November 8.

Uel W. Lamkin

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Monday, September 17, at the Price Funeral Home, Maryville, with the Rev. David Thomas, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, officiating.

Masonic services were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday, September 18, in burial rites at Engelwood cemetery, Clinton, Mo.

Both the State College and Horace Mann school were closed at 1 p.m. Monday in tribute to Dr. Lamkin.

On the College Mall, the bell was tolled at 9 a.m. Monday morning and the flag was brought to half staff in a ceremony conducted by Arthur Buckingham, student body president. It continued to fly at half staff through Tuesday night.

The board of regents, scheduled for a monthly meeting Tuesday, cancelled the session.

Dr. Lamkin is survived by his wife and one brother, Charles F. Lamkin, Fulton, Mo.

He was the fifth president of the College and served as president or president emeritus more than two-thirds of the college's 50-year span.

Dr. Lamkin was succeeded in the presidency of the College by Dr. J. W. Jones, now head of the school, whom he brought to the school as dean of faculty in 1937.

Dr. Lamkin was the driving force behind the College during the more than 24 years he was its president, and became nationally known as an educator.

To West Point Board

In April, 1949, he was named member of the board of visitors to the U. S. military academy at West Point by President Harry S. Truman. In 1935 he was named honorary secretary general of the World Federation of Educational Associations in a meeting at Oxford, England, which he and Mrs. Lamkin attended.

He previously served six years as a member of the board of directors of that international education body, one of three directors named from United States.

Dr. Lamkin served as director of the Federal Board for Vocational Education in the years following World War I. Prior to that he served as district vocational officer

Enrollment Rises!

Our College this year is experiencing one of the greatest enrollments in its history. Enrollment for the opening semester of the 1956-57 college year now totals 1460 plus 94 part-time evening and Saturday students, while those enrolled in 1955 totaled 1338.

Analyzing the enrollment figures, one will note that there is a 15% increase in the first semester students over the comparable list in 1955.

Musical Comedy Has Cast of 100

The musical comedy, "Of Thee I Sing, Baby" is now in rehearsal, according to Mr. Ralph E. Fulsom, head of the speech and drama department at the College. It will be presented on October 18 and 19 in the College auditorium.

College students will be given a preview at a matinee on Thursday, October 18, at 2 p.m. High school students may see it Friday, October 19, at 2 p.m., and at 8:15 that evening the play will be presented for the general public.

Since "Of Thee I Sing, Baby" is a political satire and since national elections will be held early in November, it is important that this comedy be presented before the elections, a date considerably earlier than the usual time for such a production.

A cast of almost one hundred persons will be required to stage properly all numbers, and there is still room for those with ability. One does not have to be a fancy dancer, a drama or music major, to be acceptable if he can and will help.

This play is designed as a coordinated effort of the entire college; so those who are available, should see Mr. Fulsom at his office—and soon.

White House Meet Probes Questions On School Topics

A regional follow-up conference on the findings of President Eisenhower's White House Conference on Education held last November was held yesterday on the campus.

President J. W. Jones, who was a delegate to the national conference, was general chairman of the regional conference. Dr. Leon Miller, chairman of the Department of Education, was co-ordinator of the conference procedure.

Nearly 200 Attend

There were in attendance approximately 200 delegates, from 19 counties constituting the College district, representing education, labor, industry, P. T. A., farmers and housewives at the conference.

Three of the six questions considered at the national conference were discussed as they apply to local, regional and state problems. The three questions discussed were:

1. What should our schools accomplish?
2. How can we finance our schools—build and operate them?
3. How can we get and keep enough good teachers?

The program started at 9:00 a.m. with registration. At 9:30 a.m. President Jones gave a summary of the White House Conference findings of these questions.

Bolen Gives View of State

Mr. Homer Bolen from the State Department of Education summarized how the state stands in relation to these questions.

These talks were followed with table discussions by the delegates, of the problems, developments and solutions of the problems as they see them. These discussions were held in various buildings on the campus.

At noon a luncheon was served at the Methodist Church. Mr. Everett Brown, director of Field Services, gave a speech entitled "Sidelights for Conference."

Group Leaders Participate

The meeting reconvened at 1:30 p.m. in the Horace Mann auditorium, at which time a panel discussion was held with the panel being made up of group leaders on the table discussions.

After the panel discussion, there were questions from the floor as to further information, findings and recommendations to make to the State Central Committee on the White House Conference.

Mrs. C. Wheeler Detjen, Webster Groves, is the chairman of the State Central Committee of the White House Conference.

Students who are members of the John Dewey Campus Chapter of Future Teachers were hosts.

Pictures Are Being Taken

Pictures of the underclassmen are being taken at the Falk Studio. The cost is $1.50 per person. According to Shirley Motsinger, editor in chief of the Tower, the seniors' pictures were taken Monday, September 17, through Saturday, September 22.

First Assembly of Semester

Addressing the assembly in behalf of the faculty, Dean Charles Koerber, in the absence of President Jones, welcomed returning students and new students to the first assembly of the year.

Arthur Buckingham, president of the student body, presided over the assembly. In keeping with custom, the program was opened with the introduction of the ministers and churches of Maryville by the Rev. George W. Barger of the First Christian Church. Other denominations of the Ministerial Alliance represented were St. Patrick's

Roman Catholic Church, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, First Baptist Church, Methodist Church, and First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Barger emphasized that God cannot be taken out of education and urged the students to keep in mind not only the temporal goals of life, but also the eternal goal.

In conclusion, Rev. Barger urged the college student into closer communion with God, stating that nothing is more pitiful than a person with a college degree and a kindergarten religion.

Uel W. Lamkin, President Emeritus

Former President Uel W. Lamkin was a great president of this college, which he served for twenty-five years, before he retired ten years ago. Three years after retirement, silence struck Mr. Lamkin; never was he able to speak again, nor able to hear. Now there has come to him the Eternal Silence—death.

But this man cannot die, this man who began his life work as a young man reading to his pupils, that first day in a country school, from the Bible: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly"—the first Psalm, which he read at every opening assembly of a school year until he closed that life work as a world figure in education. Mr. Lamkin, whose circle of influence was as wide as that, whose work in education was so far-reaching, lives on. Out of Eternal Silence, he speaks his beliefs, his principles, his ideals, through the voices and the lives of those he influenced.

This college is greater for his having been its president. With keenness of mind to foresee outcomes, soundness of educational philosophy, ability to choose faculty, tenacity of purpose, he brought world recognition to the high standards of this college.

No, Uel W. Lamkin, president emeritus, is not dead. Let men and women not grieve for him; he lived a full life of service as a man, a teacher, a leader in education. There should be, said a poet,

No grief for the great ones whose labor is ended . . .

They have willed you the world; be the trust evaded,

Their rebuke is the quiet, the light of the stars.

Mr. Lamkin was one of the great ones. He has willed us the world; that we may not evade the trust, his voice comes from the Silence, the quiet, in admonition: "Blessed is the man who walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly . . . his delight is in the law of the Lord, and in His law doth he meditate day and night."

—MATTIE M. DYKES
(Member of the Faculty)

He Marked the Way

One day in the winter of 1930-31, I walked into President Lamkin's office to ask Mabel Clair Winburn if she had any Civil Service application forms "What do you want with Civil Service blanks?" a voice asked, and there stood Mr. Lamkin behind Mabel Clair.

"I want a job in Washington."

"You've prepared to teach," he reproved me. "You don't want to go into a government office."

"That's right," I confessed. "But I do want to live in Washington."

"I'll get you a job at the National Education Association then," he said, "and you can live in Washington and still stay in the teaching profession, where you belong."

Ever since, I've been on the NEA staff and have never forgotten that to Mr. Lamkin I owe the wonderful experiences which have been mine for twenty-five years. It has seemed to me, too, that this one incident furnishes the key to an understanding of Mr. Lamkin's great success.

In the first place, he was interested in the students as individuals with problems and potentialities. He was that rare college president who knew students personally, was happy over our achievements but did not hesitate to let us know when we failed to live up to his expectations.

In the second place, he was a national figure in education and therefore able to see beyond our own campus. Because he was a leader in the largest national professional organization of teachers in the world, he had national outlook and national influence. President of the National Education Association, 1928-29, he was a member of its Board of Directors to the day of his death. More than most NWMSC graduates, I had opportunity to see him in action on the national scene and can testify that he added to the prestige of our college.

Later, 1935-43, his sphere extended to the international and as secretary-general of the World Federation of Education Associations (predecessor of today's influential World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession), he worked with the educational leaders of the world.

A thousand honors came to him, at local, state, national, and international levels. He deserved them all.

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

Had Headed N. E. A.

He was president of the Missouri State Teachers Association in 1912-13, and president of the National Education Association in 1928-29.

Dr. Lamkin was governor of district 134 of Rotary International in 1943, being one of the charter members of the Maryville Rotary club and its president in 1938.

Dr. Lamkin, a son of Emilius P. and Susan Williams Lamkin, was born in California, Mo., Jan. 18, 1877. His paternal grandfather moved to Missouri from Kentucky about 1810. About the same time his maternal grandfather, who was father of Judge W. M. Williams of Boonville, and Dr. Walter Williams, former president of the University of Missouri, moved to Missouri from Virginia.

His father was superintendent of schools at California, Mo., and later president of a girls' school at Fulton. In 1881 his father became superintendent of schools at Clinton, Mo., and shortly afterward he became associated with the Clinton Academy, of which he was proprietor until he died in 1893.

Dr. Lamkin was graduated from Clinton Academy and, upon his father's death, helped run the academy the remainder of that year.

Becomes Clinton Principal

After three years in private business, Dr. Lamkin became principal of the Washington Elementary School at Clinton. He later became principal of the Clinton High School but resigned in 1906 to enter the University of Missouri law school.

He became chief clerk in the office of the Missouri State Superintendent of Schools and later was named the first high school inspector in the state.

He was elected Henry County superintendent of schools, in 1909 and served until 1915. In 1916 he was appointed state superintendent of schools, but he was defeated for reelection in 1918.

Two Honorary Doctorates

In 1918 Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., conferred on him an honorary doctor's degree "for distinguished service in education in Missouri."

In 1939 Park College, Parkville, Mo., conferred an honorary doctorate of law.

Dr. Lamkin was married to Mary Cabell Dickinson in 1909; a daughter of C. C. Dickinson, who served in Congress. They had two sons, Billy and Dick, both of whom died while youngsters.

He was a Mason, an Elk, a Democrat and a member of the Presbyterian church.

While president of the College, Dr. Lamkin saw the enrollment grow from 275 in 1921 to more than 1,461 in the late 1920's.

Many new buildings, which included the Horace Mann Laboratory School, a new gymnasium, a new library and a 50-acre park, were constructed in his tenure.

Housing Becomes Easier for Girls

The housing problem on the College has been helped by the addition of rooms in the basement of Residence Hall. These new rooms make it possible for 23 more girls to stay in Residence Hall.

Also helping the situation is the changing of the home which was formerly occupied by the Dean into rooms for girls. This is now known as South Hall, and accommodates 6 girls, all freshmen.

Although there are no new rooms for boys on the campus, there are still good rooms available in town. The Quad, however, is full.

Residence Hall has some room because of last minute cancellations. There are also rooms for girls still available in private homes.

Dr. Peterson, New Officers Plan Program

Northwest Missouri State Intramural Commission, headed by Dr. H. D. Peterson, will broaden the program still farther this year as golfing, bowling, and wrestling will be added to the schedule. Activity of the intramural and co-recreational department began in 1947. At first it was limited to competition in basketball and softball. Now the program has enlarged until the activities on the agenda compare with those of many universities.

The activities planned for the year are touch football, tennis, basketball, free throw contest, volleyball, softball, swimming, track, golf, bowling, and wrestling. Students representing the various organizations on the campus are Don Pierpoint, co-ordinator; Gene Johnson, veterans; Jim Joy, Sig Taus; Dick Hargrave, TKE; Norman Higginbotham, Phi Sig; Jamie Tankersley, Independents; and Franklin Garey, Independent Club.

Today, September 26, is set as the last day football team rosters may be entered. Commission members have emphasized that points for the Supremacy Cup will be lost if teams fail to show up for the games.

As in the past an individual trophy will be given to the highest point winner. The team medals and trophies will be on display in the Union. Intramural information and material will be posted on the bulletin boards in the Administration building, the Union, and the main gymnasium. Anyone wanting to participate in Intramurals who is not affiliated with some organization should contact Dr. Peterson or some member of the Commission.

Showers Receive Needed New Look

The boys' and girls' shower rooms in the gymnasium are receiving a new look. The girls' room has been completely reconstructed and individual shower stalls have been added. Walls in the girls' section are covered with buckskin colored tile while the boys' shower will be finished in mint green.

PLANNING THE AGENDA . . . The Intramural Commission takes time from their initial meeting for a picture of the new officers and organization representatives. They are standing from left to right: Jamie Tankersley, Independents; Gene Johnson, president of the Commission and Veteran Club representative; Dick Hargrave, secretary, publicity chairman and TKE delegate; Jim Joy, Sig Taus; Norman Higginbotham, Phi Sig; Don Pierpoint, co-ordinator. Dr. H. D. Peterson, chairman of men's physical education department, is seated with a calendar of events.

Tile has been placed over the old concrete floor in both shower rooms. Painters are repainting the walls and ceiling above the new tile. Repairmen are using glass block to replace the old windows on the north and south walls of the gym. According to Coach Bob Gregory, work was begun in August and should be completed in about two weeks.

Ten Students Are Pep Squad Leaders

Students selected to make up the pep squad for the 1956-57 school year are as follow: Shirley Dietrich, Maryville; Nancy Karger, Balboa, Canal Zone; Alice Lukehart, Jamesport; Mary Dowden, Maryville; Beverly Murphy, St. Joseph; Donald and Ronald Kixmiller, Carson, Iowa; and Donald Moore, Eagleville.

Alternates are Almeda Myers, Shenandoah, and Carolyn Ogden, Maryville.

Saturday, September 15, the entire group journeyed to St. Joseph where they attended the Cheerleaders Clinic which was held at Central High School. The clinic was conducted by Lawrence R. Herkimer, Executive Secretary of the National Cheerleaders Association.

"The group is working on some new yells and techniques and would appreciate the cooperation of the student body," says Nancy Karger, head cheerleader.

'Cats to Clash With Fort Hays

Trying to avenge last year's 27-13 loss, the fighting Bearcats will stalk to Fort Hays, Kansas, to battle the Fort Hays Tigers Saturday night.

Coach Ryland Milner's chargers are one of the youngest teams in the MIAA Conference this year, with a traveling squad consisting of 13 freshmen, 10 sophomores, 7 juniors, and 6 seniors.

Rounding out the starting eleven are backs Darrell Walker, 6-2, 185; quarterback; Kenny Stevens, 6-0, 185, left half; Elmer Clark, 6-1, 170, fullback; Mickey Mallen, 5-8, 165, right half.

Other men on the traveling squad are backs Jerry Cole, John Ambrose, Larry Schwizer, Russ Davenport, Pete Carrizales; linemen Doyle Thomas, Gene Smith, Jerry Marrs, Larry Rowley, Larry Craig, Dean Thompson.

Injuries have taken some of the front-line men out of action. Ron O'Dell and George Haskey have received minor injuries while Gene Johnson will see no more action throughout the rest of the campaign because of the torn knee.

Jackrabbits Ease Past Maryville

Northwest State College's Bearcats carried offensive drives beyond the 20-yard line six times Saturday night, but lacked enough steam to score as they went down to the second 1956 defeat, a 7-0 conquest by South Dakota State at Brookings, S. D.

The only touchdown of the game came in the second quarter after quarterback Nig Johnson of the Jackrabbits completed a 53-yard pass to halfback Sam Ruth that moved the ball to the Maryville 20-yard line.

As the Bearcat defense clamped down, it took the Jackrabbits 10 plays to tally, with Ruth driving across.

The Bearcats controlled the bulk of the time and featured efficient aerial attack that gained 200 yards.

Once they marched to the 10 yard line before being stopped and at other time they narrowly missed a touchdown when a pass fell out of reach of the intended receiver.
